THE HAWAIIAN BILL.

Cranks Are Crazy and Consider Cocktail Calamities.

Hitt of Illinois, a member of the Hawaiian Commission, opposed the amendment. He said it was desirable in legislating for the island that there should be a delegate on the floor who could be questioned. If there was no delegate the corridors would be crowded with lobbyists representing special interests. (Applause.) Everybody knew what a lobbyist was. Whether he was an ex-Governor, an ex-Senator, an ex-Justice of the Supreme Court, or a common hireling in Washington, he represented special interests. Hitt recalled that the Ministers from Hawaii in the past, Carter, Thurston, Hatch and Hastings, were all honorable men who had the privilege of the floor, but no voice.

"The gentleman has had broad experience with foreign affairs, interrupted Hill. "Does he know of a single insular government in the world, either in Great Britain, France or Geamany, or any other European power, which has a representative in the home Parliament?"

"We are a popular representative government essentially, replied Hitt, "and a republic does not need to take lessons from monarchies in the application of our system." (Great in saloons in Hawaii and report the applause on both sides of the House.)

Williams of Missouri argued that the Constitution entitled every organized Testitory to a delegate on the floor of the House. He had opposed the annexation of Hawaii originally because he had foreseen the race problem it would bring with it. He replied with much feeling to Hill's reference, earlier in the day, to the restricted suffrage in Mississippi.

"Does the gentleman imagine," said he, "that we of the South take any pride in the fact that we are compelled to restrict the suffrage in the interests of civilization?"

"I do not," replied Hill, "but why not apply the same system to Ha-

"Whenever I am faced with the race problem," continued Williams, "I stand for white supremacy. I stand for white supremacy in Hawaii as I stand for it in Mississppi. It is the duty of man to lift up those below him if he can, but there is no injunction, human or divine, which obliges white men to 'herd with narrow foreheads, ignorant of our glorious gains.' I have no idea that the blacks will ever rise to the plane of the whites and I indulge in no bypoerisy about it."

Williams said it ill became the representatives of Connecticut and Rhode Islands to taunt the men of the South with their election laws. He created much amusement by his references to some of the peculiarities of the election laws in Rhode Island and Connecticut and drew the fire of the representatives of those States.

Clark of Missouri said he was teetotally opposed to taxation without representation.

Hill's amendment was lost.

An amendment was adopted to postpone for one year the time when the coastwise laws of the United States should be extended to Hawaii. An amendment was added to the end of the bill providing that no Chinese who obtain a certificate in Hawaii under the terms of the bill shall be allowed to enter any State or Territory of the United States.

De Armond of Missouri offered an amendment compelling all Asiatics who have entered the islands under contract since the date of annexation to leave within one year. It was adopted.

declaring it to be the purpose of the act to encourage free white labor in the islands and discourage Asiatic labor and providing that within one year all corporations shall employ at least one-tenth white labor and one-tenth more each subsequent year until at least three fourths of the employes shall be citizens of the United States and of Hawsii. The amendment was lost, 34 to 77.

A committee amendment was adopted to close up and liquidate the affairs of the Hawaiian Savings

Hill of Connecticut offered an amendment providing that nothing in the act should be construed as a pledge of Statehood in the immediate or distant future.

Knox characterized the amendment in the words of Former Representative Walker of Massachusetts as "almighty damn nonsense." The amendment was lost:

Another committee amendment was adopted to make section 52, relating to appropriations, go into effeet after approval of the act.

The last amendment adopted was one offered by Newlan is of Nevada to create the office of Commissioner of Labor in Hawaii.

The committee then reported the bill and amendments to the house. Bartholdt of Missouri moved to recommit the bill with instructions to strike out the amendment prohibiting the sale of intoxicating liquors bill back forthwith as amended. The motion was lost -50 to 83. The bill then passed-120 to 28.
